

I am Determination

It was a warm sunny day in England.

Give up walked over to Determination.

'Why do you always cry?' He asked.

'Because I am determined to finish, finish the sentence, finish the sum, finish the game. I am important in peoples lives, as the people are determined. You are the life ruiner. It is way more fun to have that bit of determination in life. If not, you are just a bored person with a dry soul. Do you understand?'

'Yes I'm going to change.'

And from then on, Give Up was always determined, and his new name was Little Determination.

